ORDER

BEFORE THE COURT is Defendant Ifeoma Inneh's ("Inneh") unopposed motion to continue the trial in this matter. (ECF No. 55.) For the reasons stated herein, the Court will grant the motion. The time to try this case is extended up to and including January 23, 2023.

On August 4, 2022, the Inneh filed her unopposed motion to continue the trial in this matter. In the motion, Inneh states that she and the United States are "in the final stages of entering into a plea agreement" to a separate Information. Id. at 1. Inneh seeks a continuance so that the United States may file its separate Information and so that the Parties may complete the necessary requirements for the plea agreement. Id. Additionally, "the parties have agreed that this motion tolls any speedy trial clock in this matter and the time between this motion and any new trial date is 'excludable time.'" Id.

While the Speedy Trial Act requires that defendants be tried within seventy days of indictment, the Court specifically finds that extending this period would be in the best interest of justice. Here, an extension of time is necessary to allow Inneh time to participate in plea negotiations with the United States.

Consistent with this concern, the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit has recognized that "whether or not a case is 'unusual' or 'complex,' an 'ends of justice' continuance may in appropriate circumstances be granted." United States v. Fields, 39 F.3d 439, 444 (3d Cir. 1994) (finding that the district court had properly granted an "ends of justice" continuance to "permit plea negotiations to continue"); cf. United States v. Dota, 33
